Speaker Bios

Keynote Speaker – Lucy Holman – Wednesday, October 23      10:15 – 11:30 am

Where Are We Growing? Health Sciences Libraries in the Next Decade and Beyond

What is on the horizon for health sciences libraries? How do libraries demonstrate value and advocate for continued funding and staffing as universities and hospitals experience loss of public support, greater government oversight, and financial challenges? Lucy will address societal trends such as the growth of AI, issues of diversity and inclusion, and competing institutional interests and share how libraries can leverage their expertise to successfully weather potential storms and grow stronger in the coming decade.

Lucy Holman is the Associate Provost for Teaching, Learning and Library Services and Dean of the UNC-Wilmington Library. Lucy holds a doctorate in Interaction Design and Information Architecture from the University of Baltimore and an M.S.L.S. and B.A. in Journalism and History from UNC Chapel Hill. Lucy's numerous leadership positions include President of the Maryland Congress of Academic Library Directors (CALD), President of the MD Chapter of Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL), President of the Maryland Library Association, and MD Chapter Councilor for the American Library Association. She recently served as Secretary for the UNC Libraries Advisory Council and is currently the managing editor of the Journal of New Librarianship.

CE1 -- Emily Weyant Blevins and Nakia Joye Woodward—Wednesday, October 23      1-4 pm

Providing Consumer Health Information in Underserved Rural Areas* (3 hr MLA CE credit)

Successfully providing consumer health information to specific populations relies on knowing how to build a connection between your information resources and your audience. This course will take you through this process from beginning to end using free authoritative health information materials and activities. This class will help you uncover ways to use health information materials with theoretical communities as well as your own populations. Although our focus will be primarily on rural and underserved communities, as that is our experience and expertise, the main principals of this course can be applied to building information outreach initiatives with other types of communities as well.

Emily Weyant Blevins, MLIS, AHIP
Senior Clinical Reference Librarian/Assistant Professor East Tennessee State University, James H. Quillen College of Medicine Library

Nakia Woodward, MSIS, AHIP
Assistant Director for Administration & Collections
/ Assistant Professor
East Tennessee State University,
James H. Quillen College of Medicine

CE2 -- Julia Esparza—Thursday, October 24 9-11 am

Visualizing the Value of Researcher and Institution Publications – iCite (2 hr MLA CE credit)

Attendees will hear about the background of iCite, how it works, and the Relative Citation Ratio used to show impact factor. They will use an author name or institutional grant citation to determine relative value. Attendees will examine the results through the Influence, Translation and Citations attached to the publications. Attendees will download reports to show the value of using iCite instead of pay services.

Julia Esparza, MLS, AHIP, is the Comegys Endowed Professor in Medical Library Science and Executive Director of the Louisiana State University Health Library. She is a clinical medical librarian as well as an associate professor. As Head of User Education and Outreach, she led the library's involvement in the medical school curriculum that included coordinating the education on biostatistics and evidence-based medicine.

Ms. Esparza has been awarded the Estelle Brodman Award for the Academic Medical Librarian of the Year in 2014, Lucretia W. McClure Excellence in Education Award in 2017, and awarded three MLA President's Awards with committee colleagues. In 2023, Ms.

Esparza was named a Fellow of MLA. She has been a distinguished member of the Academy of Health Information Professionals MLA since 2009. Active in MLA committees and caucuses, she served on the Board of Directors for the association from 2012-2015 and served a three-year term as President-Elect, President and Past-President.

CE3—Laura Cullen—Friday, October 25 10-11:30

The PICO Problem – Fishing with the Wrong Bait and Other EBP Updates (no MLA CE credit)

This presentation will describe cutting edge updates in the EBP process. EBP updates will describe solutions to the problems PICO creates when establishing the focus and searching for best evidence. Collaboration among nurses, librarians and other interprofessional team members will guide a description of guidance for moving EBP forward in the fast-paced healthcare setting.

Laura Cullen, DNP, RN, FAAN | Department of Nursing Services and Patient Care, University of Iowa Hospitals & Clinics, Iowa City, IA

Laura Cullen leads Evidence-Based Practice at University of Iowa Health Care. Laura is internationally recognized for her expertise in EBP and implementation. Laura's work has led to innovation in practice; improved patient safety; reduced nosocomial events; improved patient, family and staff satisfaction; reduced hospital LOS and costs; and transformation of many organizations' EBP infrastructure. She has over 100 publications and presented nationally and internationally. Laura is on the editorial board for and has a regular EBP column in the Journal of PeriAnesthesia Nursing and is on the editorial board of the American Journal of Nursing, and has been on the grant review panel for the DAISY Foundation. She has received multiple awards and her work supported numerous awards for the nursing department.
